DETAILED ACTION

Priority

Receipt is acknowledged of papers submitted under 35 U.S.C. 119(a)-(d), which papers have been placed of record in the file.

Drawings

The drawings are objected to because they are not clear (line quality, shading), particularly figures 5-8. Corrected drawing sheets in compliance with 37 CFR 1.121(d) are required in reply to the Office action to avoid abandonment of the application. Any amended replacement drawing sheet should include all of the figures appearing on the immediate prior version of the sheet, even if only one figure is being amended. The figure or figure number of an amended drawing should not be labeled as "amended." If a drawing figure is to be canceled, the appropriate figure must be removed from the replacement sheet, and where necessary, the remaining figures must be renumbered and appropriate changes made to the brief description of the several views of the drawings for consistency. Additional replacement sheets may be necessary to show the renumbering of the remaining figures. Each drawing sheet submitted after the filing date of an application must be labeled in the top margin as either "Replacement Sheet" or "New Sheet" pursuant to 37 CFR 1.121(d). If the changes are not accepted by the examiner, the applicant will be notified and informed of any required corrective action in the next Office action. The objection to the drawings will not be held in abeyance.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

The following is a quotation of the first paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall contain a written description of the invention, and of the manner and process of making and using it, in such full, clear, concise, and exact terms as to enable any person skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and use the same and shall set forth the best mode contemplated by the inventor of carrying out his invention.

Claim 16 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph, as failing to comply with the written description requirement. The claim(s) contains subject matter which was not described in the specification in such a way as to reasonably convey to one skilled in the relevant art that the inventor(s), at the time the application was filed, had possession of the claimed invention. New claim 16 recites "that resultant force acting on the leading shoe is atleast twice that of the input and results in low friction lining". The original disclosure fails to support this limitation, instead defining almost twice the force acting on the leading shoe. It is also not clear what "low friction lining" is intended to convey.

Claims 13-17 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

Claim 13 recites "lined heading shoe". The disclosure fails to define this term, nor is it's meaning readily apparent.

Claim 14 depends on canceled claim 3, thereby rending the claim indefinite. As the scope of the claim can not be determined, the claim has not been further treated on merits.

Claim 15 recites "a backplate, lined leading shoe, lined trailing shoe". It is not clear if the backplate and leading shoe correspond to the previously recited elements or are different elements. It is also not clear if the trailing shoe is meant to correspond to the previously recited heading shoe. Note the disclosed invention appears to have only two shoes.

Claim 15 recites "the lever". It is not clear if this corresponds to the previously recited lever or the previously recited handbrake lever.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claims 13 and 15-16 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Maehara (US# 6186294).

Maehara discloses all the limitations of the instant claims including; a cylinder assembly 605, back plate 607, strut assembly 671, lined leading shoe 603, lined heading shoe 604 and a lever assembly 632 characterized in that the lever is pivotally inclined to the lined leading shoe such that the rear end of the lever is sustained by the strut positioned at the upper end of the brake drum.

Regarding claim 15, Maehara shows shoe return springs, handbrake lever 672 and shoe hold down springs (discussed, not shown) wherein on actuating the wheel cylinder assembly the lever rotates about its pivot and actuates the strut assembly so as that lined trailing shoe receives inputs from both the wheel cylinder and strut assembly.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claim 17 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Maehara (US# 6186294).

Maehara discloses all the limitations of the instant claim with exception to the explicit disclosure of mounting screws and shoe hold down springs. The examiner takes official notice that mounting screws and hold down springs are well known in the art for affixing wheel cylinders to backing plates and maintaining brake shoes in proper position. It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to utilize mounting screws and hold down springs, as known in the art, to the brake of Maehara, thereby providing proper security to the wheel cylinder and proper positioning to the brake shoes.

Conclusion

The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. Murayama et al.
